MANY DEAD IN FOREST FIRES IN NORTHWEST

Late Reports Indicate Some Have Escaped: Toll is Uncertain

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Spokane, Wash., July 15.—Mine workers, home-steaders and others reported trapped by forest fires in eastern Washington and northern Idaho and whose fate was in doubt last night, have escaped the flames reports received here today declared.

Kellogg, Idaho, July 15.—Thirty persons believed to have been trapped at the Constitution Mine last night by a forest fire arrived here this morning and word came that the remainder of the beleaguered mine workers and their families would be out shortly.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
San Francisco, California, July 15.—Fifty-two persons are unaccounted for and believed to have perished within the past twenty-four hours in the forest fires which are sweeping all sections of the Pacific coast.

They are W. O. Dillon and family of six, with six loggers caught by fire on Trapper Creek, Idaho.

A party of 35 persons trapped by fire at Wheeler Mill, Washington.

Four Doukhobors caught by a fire in the Salmon Valley, British Columbia.

The fires were being fought today by forces recruited by federal, state and private timber interests in the effort to save thousands of acres of timber and grazing land from being added to that already burned over.

Blazes in the timber of eastern Washington, northern Idaho and British Columbia were reported to have burned over courses which had cut off homesteads of settlers.

Great Monetary Loss
Greatest monetary loss has been in the forests of the Pacific northwest on both sides of the international boundary. In Idaho, mine buildings have been burned and in Washington and Oregon logging camp equipment has been destroyed.

Blazes in the coast region of Washington and Oregon were reported under control last night, but in the forests of California, four major fires were still raging today.

Flames which for a week have swept the Santa Barbara National Forest north of Los Angeles were at latest reports increasing in area and intensity.

In the Tahoe National Forest the latest reports were that the flames were leaping along the north and middle forks of the American river, despite the efforts of 400 men.

Judge Olvany in Full Charge of Tammany Hall

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, July 15.—Tammany Hall is functioning under the leadership of Judge George W. Olvany, elected yesterday, who took over the reins immediately from the steering committee which had been in control since the death of Charles F. Murphy in April.

In many ways the new leader possesses the same qualities that characterized his immediate predecessor. He is known as a man who has the courage to say no when it is required.

The new leader was born on the east side near the boyhood home of Governor Smith. He is a close friend of the governor.

As a member of the law committee, Judge Olvany had a part in every election involving a Tammany candidate in the last five years. After his election he made it known that he would pattern his leadership upon that of Murphy.

In a statement he endorsed the Davis-Bryan ticket and the Hylan administration.

Notification of President Coolidge, August 14th

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, July 15.—The republican national campaign will get under way August 14, when President Coolidge will be notified formally of his nomination as the party's presidential candidate and will accept in an address to be broadcast throughout the country by radio.

The notification ceremony will be held in Continental Memorial Hall at night to facilitate the broad casting of the President's address. Frank W. Mondell will make the notification address.

Shenandoah Put Through Test Flight of Six Hours

Lakehurst, N. J., July 15.—The United States dirigible, Shenandoah, returned to its hangar here at 4:35 this morning after a test flight of approximately six hours.

CHEAPER GAS IN DIXON TO MEET OTHERS

Two Companies An- nounced Drop in Price

Cheaper automobile fuel was obtainable by drivers of cars this morning when a drop of one to two cents a gallon was noted at some of the service stations throughout the city. The Prescott oil company this morning announced a drop of two cents a gallon both from the tank trucks and at the service stations, making the new price 16.4 from the tank trucks and 18.4 at the filling stations.

The Sinclair company's local agency started a reduction in price yesterday when gasoline slid down 1.4 cents a gallon. This morning prices at Sinclair station were 19 cents and 17 stations followed in line with the general reduction in price this morning and were selling at 18.4 which was the low mark.

Discussing the drop, one of the local dealers this morning stated that the action had been taken merely to meet outside competition.

The Roxana company, who opened up an extensive branch in this city this spring, had not announced a reduction in price of gasoline this morning.

Strangers Injured in Accident East of City

Vincente Peres, wife and child and his sister and her baby, were cut and bruised in an automobile accident east of the city on the Lincoln Highway yesterday afternoon about 2:30. They were brought to the police station where City Physician Dr. J. B. Werren dressed their injuries. They were then taken to the Mexican colony at the cement plant.

Peres, his wife and sister and their small children had started from Chicago, making their way westward in search of employment, he told the police. He was short of funds and is being cared for temporarily by countryman east of the city.

Boy Evangelist Will Conduct Sublette Meet

One of the most intense evangelistic campaigns ever conducted in Sublette is announced to begin there Friday in a big tent at the old chautauque ground. The services will be conducted by the "Boy Evangelist," Paul Hutchens of Thornton, Ind., and there will be an old-fashioned song service each evening before the sermon. The services will be started at 7:45 o'clock each evening, and it is expected they will continue at least two weeks. The sermon for Sunday evening will be "The Second Coming of Christ."

Brundage and Family to Their Cottage Soon

Attorney General E. J. Brundage, wife and children will come this week to occupy their cottage at Green Rock, which has been remodelled into an attractive modern six-room bungalow. Mr. Brundage has plans for a beautiful home to be built of native stone at a later date. Yesterday furniture was received from Chicago for the bungalow.

WORLD'S BEST---BUT NOT ENOUGH

CATAPULT ON THE DECK OF AN AIRSHIP DISCHARGED AN AIRPLANE. THIS IS NOT CONSIDERED AS SUCCESSFUL AS WORKING FROM A LAND BASE.

THE U. S. NAVY'S LATEST TYPE OF TORPEDO PLANE. IT CARRIES A TORPEDO SLUNG UNDER ITS FUSELAGE AND CAN GO FROM 40 TO 110 MILES AN HOUR.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer
Washington, July 15.—At record breaking, American navy aviators lead the world.

Forty-two air records are officially recognized. Twenty of them are held by United States naval flyers.

Both the army's and the navy's aerial equipments have been severely criticized.

It's denied that they represent fair values for what they cost. Men like General Patrick and Rear Admiral Moffett, respective heads of the two branches' aviation services, speak of the planes as mostly war-built and too slow for today.

Nevertheless the navy's showing in the matter of records is wonderful. Experts give credit to men rather than to their machines.

The United States navy has 360 planes, a personnel of 3595; the army, 450 planes and 10,300 personnel.

Other countries group their army and navy services together.

France has 1250 planes, personnel 33,500; Britain 600 planes, personnel 29,283; Japan 250 planes, personnel 3100; Italy 250 planes built and 750 building, personnel 6500.

Some authorities say that of America's combined army and navy planes —$10 in all—not more than 100 are serviceable.

Men Good, But Few
However, an airplane shortage is less serious than a shortage in fighting ships. Planes can be built faster, or adapted from commercial uses.

The shortage is serious rather in that it implies a lack of trained men and the record indicates that America's personnel, man for man, is at least as good as any in the world.

Besides its planes, the navy has the dirigible Shenandoah. Soon it will have the ZR-3. Navy men think exceedingly well of both, as the very latest make of lighter-than-aircraft, perhaps without equals.

Of America's deficiencies in the matter of naval aircraft carriers and tenders, there's no difference of opinion among experts.

For the planes there's the old converted collier Langley of 12,700 tons; for the dirigibles the Wright, also built slow—11,000 tons. In addition, two old battle cruisers, the Lexington and Saratoga, fast boats of 35,236 tons each, are being converted as aircraft carriers, but at the present rate this work will not be finished under three or four years.

"The Langley," said Admiral R. E. Coontz in his report on the Culebra maneuvers this year, "was supposed to carry 58 planes but actually had only six, which, however, served good purposes, considering their number and capabilities, and the Langley's own characteristics."

Catapults Fail
Aside from regular carriers, battleships and cruisers also now launch planes from catapults. Of their effectiveness at the Culebra maneuvers Admiral Coontz said:

"The Atlantic squadron had 27 sea planes which were most successful working from a base, catapults not working well on ships. Therefore the Langley was the only ship to send up planes."

"Arresting gear, deck lighting and the material requirements to permit night flying should be developed. Aircraft carriers should have separate radio receiving rooms in order that planes in the air may be communicated with efficiently while radio work with other units is going on."

Anti-aircraft batteries of the older ships are incomplete and this is the more serious because of the lack of aircraft carriers.

"The construction of the two carriers building should be expedited," Admiral Coontz adds, "and it should be borne in mind that each will require the constant attendance of from three to six destroyers, which should be provided."

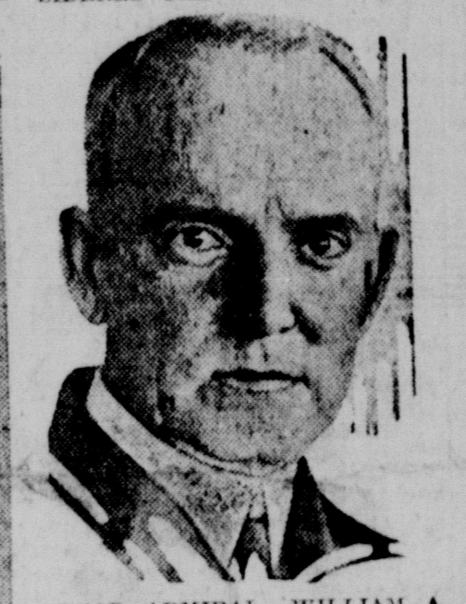

As compared with America's one completed plane carrier, Britain has 3, of a total of 48,190 tons, with 3 more building, representing another 56,300 tons. Japan is building 2, of 63,400 total tons.

Both British and Japanese battleships and cruisers of all classes of course carry planes.

Just Beginning
Aviation in all countries is admittedly in a formative stage.

The flyers' vital importance is recognized, as scouts and gun spotters, and to some extent for actual attacks on fighting ships, although, with the best possible luck, an aerial bomber can count on no better than 1 hit in 25, according to a recent navy bulletin—and as many as five such hits probably would not sink a modern battleship.

THE ZR-3, PICTURED ABOVE, AND THE SHENANDOAH, BOTH U. S. NAVAL AIRSHIPS, ARE CONSIDERED THE WORLD'S FINEST IN THEIR CLASS.

REAR ADMIRAL WILLIAM A. MOFFETT, CHIEF OF THE NAVAL BUREAU OF AERONAUTICS WHICH IS APART FROM ARMY AIR SERVICE.

However, important as aviation is conceded to be, the best authorities insist it gives no promise of supplanting surface fleets.

"The field of aircraft over the sea," says M. H. McNulty, a navy critic, "is wide already and will expand."

"They will scout, attack ships and stations with bombs and torpedoes and will greatly increase the gunnery efficiency of a fleet in the earlier stages of battle."

"But when America is considering warfare in defense of her rights, there is no way to attack the enemy than through the medium of ships first."

Chicago, July 15.—Eight hundred motorists have been arraigned and warrants are out for two hundred more in Chicago's "Safety or Sorrow" campaign being conducted by city, county and highway police. Among those arraigned there was but one woman.

In a twelve hour court session held by Judge Lawrence Jacobs 538 offenders were fined or warned. The majority were charged with speeding. Two policemen were arrested last night charged with accepting a $10 bribe from a violator.

Inter-allied Confab at London; Optimism Seen Everywhere

London, July 15.—Preparations were virtually completed today for the meeting here at the foreign office tomorrow of the inter-allied conference. The purpose of the conference is the discussion of methods of putting the Dawes report on reparations into effect.

More than 150 delegates, experts and advisors will be present when premier MacDonald opens the conference and hears the response of the leading plenipotentiaries. Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan will each be represented at the conference table by several delegates.

American Ambassador Kellogg will be the only accredited representative of the United States, but Colonel James A. Logan, Jr., one of those most familiar with the complexities of the reparations problem will sit beside him as his official adviser. The only other American who is likely to participate is Owen D. Young, a member of the Dawes committee on the German budget and currency problems.

On the eve of the conference, a decided atmosphere of optimism prevails.

Waukegan, Ill., July 15.—Nelson J. Lamson, 25, will never see his son, 10 days old. The father was buried to death when he came in contact with live wires at work in Los Angeles. His widow, who came to Waukegan, to be near her mother, Mrs. Catherine Mills, 109 North Victory Street, when baby arrived, left Lake County Hospital last Saturday. She and her ten day old son being at her mother's home when the news of her husband's death was received last night. He was an employee of the Los Angeles Light & Power Company.

FORMATION NEW COMPANY IS ANNOUNCED

Co-operative Body to Operate Plants of Leading Concerns

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, July 15.—Completion of the deal by which grain farmers are to secure control of all the elevators of the five biggest companies in the United States was announced today together with plans for financing one of the greatest co-operative marketing projects ever worked out. Details were announced in the Chicago Evening Post and also given out by one of the elevator companies affected.

Incorporation papers for the new company bearing the name of the Grain Marketing Co., were asked from the Secretary of State at Springfield.

Take Over Five Plants.
The company will take over the operation of the following grain houses: Armour Grain Company of Chicago.

Rosenbaum Grain Corporation of Chicago.

Rosenbaum Brothers of Chicago.

J. C. Shaffer Company of Chicago.

Davis, Noland & Merrill Grain Co. of Kansas City.

The Bartlett Frazer Company of Chicago may enter the arrangement later but owing to legal technicalities does not appear in the original papers.

Great Elevator Space.
As a result of the merger the new company will have elevator space in Chicago and other grain centers having a capacity of more than 50,000,000 bushels and will start operations without delay, according to the announcement.

The company will control elevators in Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, Minneapolis, Winona, Minn.; Fort Worth, Tex.; Toledo, O.; Fairport, O.; Erie, Pa.; Buffalo, Galveston, Tex.; Texas City, Tex.; Norfolk and Depot Harbor, Georgian Bay.

Taken Over By Farmers.
All the elevators will be taken over by the farmers through the Grain Marketing Co., which is fostered by the American Farm Bureau and other farmers organizations.

The present heads of the elevator companies, however, have agreed to run their elevators for five years and instruct the farmers-in the way to run them and teach their successors the ways of the trade.

The company is capitalized at $25,000,000 and the plan for financing the deal includes the issuance of 1,000,000 of common stock, 1,000,000 shares of preferred "A" stock and 500,000 shares of preferred "B" stock.

To Produce and Sell.
The organization and operation of the Grain Marketing Company means that the farmer in the future will not only produce but also can market his own crop. The announcement says:

"The company will assist in every sound way any cooperative elevators desiring assistance. It will market the grain if they wish it to do so, although financially if they are in trouble lease or operate them under lease or actually buy them. In other words the Grain Marketing Company has constituted itself 'the big brother' to all cooperative elevators of which there are 5,000 scattered throughout the country. The company will also be at the service of any farm organizations, pools, etc., besides the individual farmer."

The five firms taken over will surrender their numerous offices at various points in this country and abroad, as well as their numerous leased wires and instead will have one central office at the same points, on leased wire and one service.

Other economies that will be practiced will include direct routing of grain from local elevators to the consumer and lessened elevator costs.

Among the directors of the new company will be John P. Shaffer, vice president of E. F. Shaffer Company; George E. Marcy, president of the Armour Grain Company; E. F. Rosenbaum, president of the J. C. Shaffer Company; Edward S. Glavin, president of Rosenbaum Brothers and George H. Davis, president of the Davis, Noland, Merrill Grain Co.

The announcement states that the men will serve as employees of the farmers owning the Grain Marketing Company for a definite period when the company is launched and firmly established they may be retained or dismissed according to the will of the board of directors, who will be made up of farmers.

Robbery: Is in Jail

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, July 15.—John Feldman, a tailor, is in jail, Joseph Setterpane is in a hospital probably fatally wounded and Nathan Starr is held as a result of Feldman's attempt to avenge the robbery of his home last week, when two bandits beat his wife into unconsciousness and fled with jewelry valued at $1,500.

A friend yesterday told him Setterpane and Starr were the bandits and Feldman opened fire. Both suspects deny Feldman's robbery charge.

TAMMANY'S BOSS

JUDGE G. W. OLVANY.

George Washington Olvany was yesterday elected to be leader of Tammany Hall, to succeed the late Charles F. Murphy.

WALTONIANS TO PICNIC FRIDAY AT "THE PINES" PARK

Lee and Ogle Chapters Will be Hosts at Big Gathering

Members from the Izanah Walton league chapters from all northern Illinois and the southern Wisconsin counties, together with friends and families, have been extended an invitation to attend a basket picnic at "The Pines" in Ogle county Friday afternoon and night, July 18. Dixon, Polo, Oregon, and Mt. Morris chapters will act as hosts.

The afternoon program will include music by the Kable Brothers' band of Mt. Morris, one of the largest and best musical organizations in the state.

Races, ball and fly casting, tug-of-war and similar events will be arranged for the men while women and children's contest have also been arranged by the program committee.

National Heads Coming.
Announcement from national headquarters at Chicago, received today, indicates that at least some of the national officers will attend the affair and give brief talks.

Following a basket dinner at six o'clock, a large camp fire is to be built for the evening festivities, which will include another band concert and an appropriate program.

Every One Welcome.
Emphasis is made on the fact that the gathering is open to the public, and that membership in a chapter is not essential to admission. Refreshments on the grounds will care for any who are unable to bring baskets.

The disagreeable weather that cut the attendance at the Kingston picnic two weeks ago has resulted in an effort on the part of Lee and Ogle county members to provide a program that will make up for the one missed on that occasion.

Further announcement as to the program is to be made later in the week.

Fire in South Water Street, Chicago, Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, July 15.—Traffic in the north section of Chicago's loop district came to a stop this morning when a fire broke out in the four-story building of Flouvaty-Chausson Company, commission merchants, at 63 West South Water Street.

Heavy congestion in this market place thoroughfare hampered the fire fighters and they were forced to resort to the fire boat from the river.

Piggly Wiggly Case Up.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Columbus, O., July 15.—The United States Court of Appeals tomorrow will render a decision on the temporary injunction issued at Memphis, Tenn., some time ago against Clarence Saunders, founder of the Piggly Wiggly Corporation and later president, restraining him from organizing or operating a similar organization.

OFFICERS BRAZIL REVOLT DESERTING SAYS GOVERNMENT

Sanguine Announcements of Govt. Not Borne Out by Reports

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Buenos Aires, July 15.—Official dispatches received at midnight from Rio Janeiro state:
"Twenty one rebel prisoners, of whom two are cavalry officers, have arrived at Santos from Sao Paulo. Numerous deserters from the rebel lines confirm the statement that the insurgents are much disheartened."

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Montevideo, Uruguay, July 15.—Reports received from Santos, Brazil, last night states that the situation in Sao Paulo is unchanged, the rebels holding the city against the pressure of federal troops.

It is reported that 2,000 federal troops embarked at Porto Alegre for Santos last night.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Buenos Aires, July 15.—While the latest official reports received from Rio Janeiro state that the federal forces at Sao Paulo was holding its position in besieging the Brazilian insurgents and had even advanced on some points, unofficial advice indicate that the rebels are not only still in full command of the city but are now threatening the neighborhood metropolis of Santos.

A wireless message from the British ship, Andes, which left Santos yesterday, asserted that the situation at the Brazilian port was serious. It stated that the rebels at that time were but eight miles from the city.

Up until late last night the Brazilian government had not made public any new communique regarding the situation.

It is now believed that previous reports that the Sao Paulo rebels numbered 34,000 and the besieging federal troops 24,000 were erroneous.

Liquor Case on Trial Before Jury in Court

An auto truck load of paraphernalia alleged to have been used in the manufacture of moonshine liquor was hauled from the county jail to the county court room this morning to be introduced as evidence in the case against Paul Serig, who resides east of Dixon. The case against Serig was started before a jury in the county court this morning.

Among the many articles were three complete copper stills, which were taken from the Serig home in a raid conducted by Sheriff Elliott C. Risley and his sponge squad on the afternoon of March 13. Serig has retained counsel and is fighting the case. The plant at the Serig place was one of the largest that has been uncovered in the campaign conducted by the sheriff's forces to eradicate the illicit manufacture and sale of liquor.

Child Knocked Down by Auto, Painfully Hurt

Miss Dorothy Holderman, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Holderman, 614 College avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Edward Bradley last evening about 7 o'clock at the corner of College avenue and Sixth street and sustained painful injuries. The little girl was knocked down and sustained cuts about the face and head which required several stitches to close. She was also badly bruised about the body.

Mr. Bradley stopped his car as soon as possible and took the child to the hospital where she received the necessary medical attention. She was later removed to her home and this morning was said to be resting comfortably.

Three Paid Fines in Local Courts this A. M.

E. H. Vicking and Joe Rubin failed to heed the traffic light at the corner of Galena avenue and Seventh street this morning and were taken before Justice Grover W. Gehant in police court where they paid fines of $3.00 and costs. John Mahur, arrested yesterday, pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated when arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis last evening and was fined $10 and costs.

Bottles of milk should be buried in sawdust during warm weather.

DARK HORSE MAY BE CHOSEN FOR LEADER OF DEMS

Party Leaders to Meet With Davis Today to Pick Chairman

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, July 15.—Selection of a "dark horse" as chairman of the national democratic committee may be the outcome today of conferences between party leaders and John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president.

Mr. Davis, at the home of Frank L. Polk, indicated he desired to settle the chairmanship problem before Friday. It also appeared probable that neither Mr. Polk or Clem Shaver of Fairmont, W. V., would be chosen.

"I am considering a number of persons," Mr. Davis said. "I have not offered the chairmanship to any body yet."

"How about Frank Polk?" he was asked.
"Frank is a good man," he replied with a smile.
It was learned that Mr. Polk, a close friend and legal associate of Mr. Davis, although he will doubtless take an active part in the campaign as a member of an advisory body yet to be formed, is not an aspirant for the chairmanship of the national committee.

Another object of the conferences will be to obtain information of conditions of various sections of the country—information which Mr. Davis expects to use in preparing his notification speech during a ten-day visit at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson at Islesboro, Maine, beginning next Friday.

Notification ceremonies will take place at Charksburg about August 1. Ogle county authorities and relatives of Henry Cleveland of Rochelle have requested Dixon and Lee county officers to assist in trying to locate Cleveland, who disappeared from his home yesterday. The missing man is described as being 67 years of age and when he left Rochelle about 1300 yesterday in a Ford sedan for Grand Detour, he wore an old Panama hat, glasses and was without a coat.

Deputy Sheriff George Hanning and members of Cleveland's family conducted a search throughout the night in an effort to find the man. He is said to have had Grand Detour as his objective when he left home early yesterday afternoon, but has not been seen since.

Escaped Patient from Bartonville Captured

Two Nelson residents came to Dixon late last night with an unknown man who had been acting very strangely and was wandering about in the village. He was taken to the police station and appeared to be suffering from insanity. Investigation this morning disclosed the fact that the man had escaped from the state insane asylum at Bartonville.

Drugs Worth Million Seized by Officials

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, July 15.—Narcotics valued at more than $1,000,000 were seized and nine members of the crew, including the captain of the Italia-America liner Duilio were taken into custody following a raid on the vessel today.

At Safety Meetings.

Robert Hallenberg went to Freeport this morning to attend a safety meeting for employees of the Illinois Northern Utilities company. Tomorrow he will attend a similar meeting to be held at Sycamore.

THINK MISSING OFFICER VICTIM OF MENTAL LAPSE

Theory of Foul Play in Disappearance of Maj. MacCleary Passed

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Asheville, N. C., July 15.—Discounting for the time the theory of foul play, government and civil officers and private citizens redoubled their efforts today in the search for Major Samuel H. McLeary, in the belief that the missing officer is wandering, mentally unbalanced, in the mountains of western North Carolina.

This opinion is shared by Miss Bonny McLeary, New York City, sister of the major, and J. S. Ainsworth, of Austin, Texas, a friend, who came here together to join in the hunt.

Mr. Ainsworth expressed confidence that Major McLeary drove aimlessly about the country following a mental lapse.

Disappeared July Second.
The only indisputable fact gleaned so far since Major McLeary dropped from sight on July 2nd, is that his automobile in which he was traveling from Norfolk, Va., to Fort Moultrie, S. C., fell into the hands of two men whose identity is unknown.

An explanation also is sought of the finding of clothing and personal effects belonging to the officer, hidden near the deserted automobile. Posses of officers and civilians led by Maj. S. M. Williams, Asheville, and Lieutenant Herron of Washington, a friend of Major McLeary, learned yesterday that two men, both of whom were said to be strangers in this locality, attempted to cross the mountain near Canton in Major McLeary's machine but were forced to return because of bad roads.

KNOWN BY DIXON WOMAN

Major Samuel H. McLeary, for whom search is being made, was a friend of Mrs. A. S. Byers, who is spending the summer at the Bovey cottage at the Assembly Park. Mrs. Byers husband, a major in the ordnance department, now stationed at Columbus, O., was associated with the missing officer for several years.

Licensed to Wed.

The following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Fred G. Dimick: Belthasar J. Loulen and Miss Minnie Pearl Hess, both of Dixon; Andrew Vandenberg of Sterling and Mrs. Mae B. Wood of Morrison.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our thanks to the many friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful in their generous deed and words of sympathy and for the beautiful floral tributes from them during our recent sadness in the loss of our dear mother. We also want to thank those who sang and donated cars.

Say Mrs. Fleischmann Will Not Wed Player

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, July 15.—Denial that Mrs. Julius Fleischmann, divorced recently in Paris from the yeast manufacturer, contemplates marrying Jay O'Brien, polo player, is made in a statement issued by Dudley Field Malone, counsel for Mr. Fleischmann.

The statement says: "Mrs. and Mr. Fleischmann have for a long time had a domicile in France, which domicile was recognized under the French law as valid and complete. The ground for the divorce was incompatibility and no scandalous allegations were discussed. Any statement that any third person was the cause of these proceedings is untrue. Since Mrs. Fleischmann is in Europe, I feel it my duty to say that Mr. and Mrs. Fleischmann have been actually separated for more than a year."

Dixonites Guests at Pretty Wedding

Saturday afternoon, July 12th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bain of Stillman Valley, occurred the marriage of their eldest daughter, Ernestine, to Elmer E. Knott of Holcomb, in the presence of fifty relatives and intimate friends.

Promptly at 3 o'clock the bridal party took their places before a bower of ferns and white blossoms, where the impressive double ring ceremony was used by Rev. J. Herman of Mt. Vernon, Ind., formerly of Holcomb, as assisted by Rev. Jacob of Kings. The charming bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a dress of brown canton crepe and georgette and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses and ferns. She was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Montford Weeks of Battle Creek, Mich., as matron of honor, who wore grey crepe de chine with pearl trimming. The groom was attended by his nephew, Harold Swartout, of Rockford.

After congratulations, a two-course wedding collation was served. The newlyweds were showered with rice at the depot, as they left on the evening train for a visit in Battle Creek, Mich., at the home of Mrs. Weeks, who accompanied them, and they will also visit relatives of the groom in other parts of the state.

Mrs. Knott has been the recipient of many pre-nuptial courtesies, several miscellaneous showers having been given her, and the many useful presents testify to the esteem in which these young people are held.

They will be at home in Rockford after August 15th, where the groom has a splendid position and has an apartment furnished for his bride. Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. E. Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Reese and son, Earl, Mrs. Harry Rees, Mr. and Mrs. A. Teeter, of Dixon; Lester Reese, Chicago; Mrs. M. Grust, of Mt. Morris; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Guyan, of Grand Detour.

The best wishes of a host of friends will follow Mr. and Knott on their journey through life.

Many a shipwreck is attributed to beautiful Lorelei of old. Sitting out there on the rocks, she so fascinated the poor sailors that they quit their posts and forgot the hidden rocks. Her modern counterpart, Florence Hart, Omaha high school girl, isn't wrecking any ships, though. True, she combs her long tresses and powders her nose out there on the springboard. But that's in the school pond. Unlike ancient Lorelei, she prefers to let the men live—so they can bring her bonbons!

Paris—There is one week in Paris which stands out above all others—La Grand Semaine, or the Great Week.

It is so called because of the great racing events of the week and is officially opened by the president of France.

The three greatest events are the French Derby, which has mostly a French following; The Drages, famous for beautiful carriages and of the three the greatest in social importance, and the Grand Prix, which closes the week and is fast becoming an American event.

Doug and Mary came back from Sweden to be here. Ambassador Moore came up from Spain and everyone else waited in Paris until Grand Prix was over.

What is worn at Grand Prix not only is indicative of what will be worn all summer at Deauville, Biarritz and The Lido, but also forecasts the new collections of the French couturiers which appear in early and late August.

ESCAPE.

If, crossing a street, you suddenly turned and saw that speeding auto was about to hit you before you could jump aside, what would you do?

This happened to George Gliserman, Boston newsboy. The crowd rushed forward, expecting to pick him up dead. He got calmly to his feet and chuckled, "Never touched me."

George had presence of mind to lie flat and let the car pass over him. Maybe it's just as well all pedestrians can't think as fast. Drivers would just be correspondingly more reckless. Caution varies with danger.

LOVER.

Enraged because his sweetheart had spurned him, a Massachusetts man choked and hurled her to the sidewalk.

Rather a queer demonstration of affection. Love is next door to hate, the old saying goes. But this notion is based on minority cases. The spurned lover who attacks with his fists is as rare as four-leaf clovers. Love is not next door to hate, even though extremes usually meet.

FIRE-PROOF.

Uncle Sam is experimenting with Barnot fire-proofing paint. A paint that really was fire-proof would prevent nine-tenths of the fires that take place in buildings. Discovery of such a liquid, that could be manufactured and sold at low prices, would save the people countless millions of dollars in building costs and fire insurance. Also it would help conserve the forests which replace fire losses.

Great fortunes of the last century have been made mainly in developing natural resources. The future way will be economy—conservation of natural resources. Big-scale scientific economy is better than penny-pinching.

PSYCHOLOGY.

The best of weapons are not much good to an army with low morale. It's the spirit of determination and fearlessness among the soldiers that wins most battles.

So that business—prosperity or hard times. Both of these conditions depend mainly on the mass psychology of the public. People create what they fear. If they fear depression, they are sure to get it, for their fear makes them stop spending—thus shutting down factories and stagnating distribution of commodities.

"Panic" is a good name for a business depression.

FARMERS.

Farmers of America now are banded together in more than 10,000 organizations, Department of Agriculture reports.

What they need is one big national organization. So do consumers. Industrial producers and distributors in general get the best of the bargain because they are organized. Until consumers and farmers organize, they will have the disadvantage of a disorganized army fighting a united army headed by an intelligent general staff.

Shivers creep up a city man's spine when he contemplates what would happen if the farmers ever struck.

HEART STRINGS TOUCHED.

Proclaim abroad that 10,000 persons were murdered in the United States in the past year and the most you will get is a weak chorus of "Is that so?" and "I believe you." Produce statistics showing that 573 persons have been lynched in the last decade and many will say they thought there were that many in 1923. Discuss red massacres in the most sanguinary of terms and your audience will hardly lend you their ears.

But when the newspapers of the nation spread the report of the kidnaping of a baby from its carriage on a street in Philadelphia there was a whole nation aroused; a whole people shocked and horrified; a great country with but the single wish that the abductor be speedily found and the child returned to its mother and father.

There is nothing which so touches the heartstrings of the average American as the abduction of a baby. The penalty for kidnaping has been made by many of our legislatures second only to murder in severity. Kidnapings have been the cause of many lynchings.

Behind it all is the affection with which American fathers and mothers hold their children, an affection as great here as anywhere in the world.

GAIN.

America's foreign trade is considerably bigger than a year ago. In the 10 months ended May 1, merchandise exports exceeded imports by nearly 700 million dollars.

Fine—provided we ever get paid the difference. Half of this excess was shipped to us in the form of gold. How about the other half? Was it paid for in securities or just charged on the books? A nation, like a storekeeper, can sell unlimited amounts of goods if it isn't particular about date of payment or certainty.

WHEAT.

Cost systems in agriculture are getting on as scientific a basis as in manufacturing. The day's gone when the farmer kept his few records in a nail keg.

It's learned now, that about a third of the cost of producing wheat goes to man and horse labor. Fertilizer, binder twine and seed take 10 per cent, threshing 9. Interest on land and machinery investment absorbs 29 per cent. The balance goes for taxes, insurance, etc.

Profits have not yet been analyzed. Awaiting microscopes.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 8—MISTER COCKADOODLE GETS DUCKED

Smack! Splash! The little car hit the water.

Mrs. Yellowbill and her six children all climbed into a little car on a little track in Happy Go Lucky Park, where they had come to spend the day.

They were going to "chute the chutes." A "chute the chutes" is something like a roller coaster, only at last it dumps you into the water and you get splashed all over.

"I hope you'll have a good time," leaped Nick as Mister Zip started the little car off with a push.

"Sit still and don't lean out too far," called Nancy, and put her foot on the accelerator.

"We will! We won't!" quacked all the little Yellowbills happily. "Good-bye!"

Right ahead of them another little car was starting off on its track and in it sat Granddaddy Frog and his grandchildren.

He didn't know that Mrs. Yellowbill and her family were right behind him or perhaps he wouldn't have grinned such a wide grin. He took off his glasses and put them into his waistcoat pocket and settled himself for a nice ride.

The two little cars went rattling over bumpy places in the track, and dipped dips and shot around curves and really it was enough to take your breath away. For this was a very good "chute the chutes" and gave you a long ride first before it splashed you into the water.

Mrs. Yellowbill's six children got so excited that they quacked and honked until they sounded like a traffic jam on Main street.

They made so much noise that Granddaddy Frog soon heard them. "My goodness, boys!" he shouted, turning pale. "Mrs. Yellowbill and her family are right behind us. When we strike the water, swim like sixty."

Smash! Smack! The little car hit the water and went bouncing along like a skipping stone, and out flew the frog family into the lake.

The next second, splash! smack! The Yellowbill family got dumped out too.

The first thing Mrs. Yellowbill did was to look around to see what direction Granddaddy had taken.

"I don't know what would have happened if something else hadn't happened instead."

Another car came shooting down the steep place right into the water and who should it be but Mister Cockadoodle, who couldn't swim any more than your front door step.

"Help! Help!" shouted Mister Cockadoodle, flapping his wings. "Help! Save me, somebody!"

But just then he managed to grab hold of an old log floating around in the water and climbed up.

"Ho, ho, ho, ho, ho, ho!" laughed Granddaddy Frog until he cried. "He certainly does look funny!"

"Doesn't he!" giggled Mrs. Duck. "I'd hate to be so dumb."

"So should I," agreed Granddaddy. "Come on, children, let's go again. That's lots of fun, isn't it? Mrs. Yellowbill, aren't you coming, too?"

"I should say so," said Mrs. Duck. "Come on, children."

RIDIN' AROUND

The Cockadoodle Daily Poem

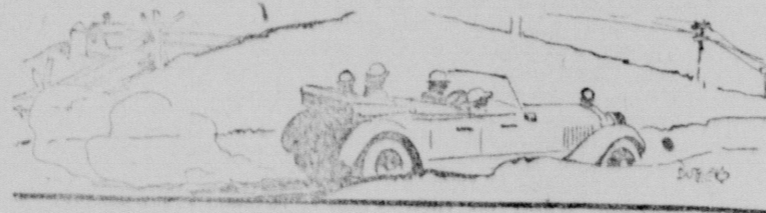

When you're all in the car and have no place to go, you will start on a tour just the same. It seems that a habit of folks hereabouts, as they play in the out-of-door game.

The family will pack up a package of lunch and it's stored in the back of the bus. Then, where are you bound for? You haven't a hunch, and your goal doesn't rouse any fuses.

Dad sits at the wheel and he smokes a cigar while he's dreamily steering the Lizzie. There isn't a thing that his pleasure can mar. And the kiddies keep mother dear busy. You head for the open in just such a drive for you go just wherever you please. You suddenly find that the world is alive with the beauty of shrubbery and trees.

Through winding dirt roads you go rolling along. You are wise when your trip's thus invested. If you think that there's pleasure in driving you're wrong, on the streets that the traffic congested.

HEALTHGRAMS

Preventable diseases take their toll by the indirect method. If preventable diseases used the direct method such as a club or a gun to kill their victims the resulting alarm would make the old world tremble. The point is that the cost would be too high with reduced if the direct method of collecting was used.

During the last three years typhoid fever, smallpox and diphtheria took from Illinois a toll of 4501 lives, or people sufficient to populate a city the size of Princeton, Des Plaines or Anna. These three diseases are all positively preventable and are all tolerated because they work by the subtle, indirect method. In other words a lot of people do not realize what the diseases are up until it is too late.

HERE'S THE LATEST-COD LIVER OIL IN TASTELESS TABLETS

Greatest Flesh Builder For Skinny, Weak, Run-Down People—Full of Vitamines.

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamin food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of magnesia.

Thin, run-down, anemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

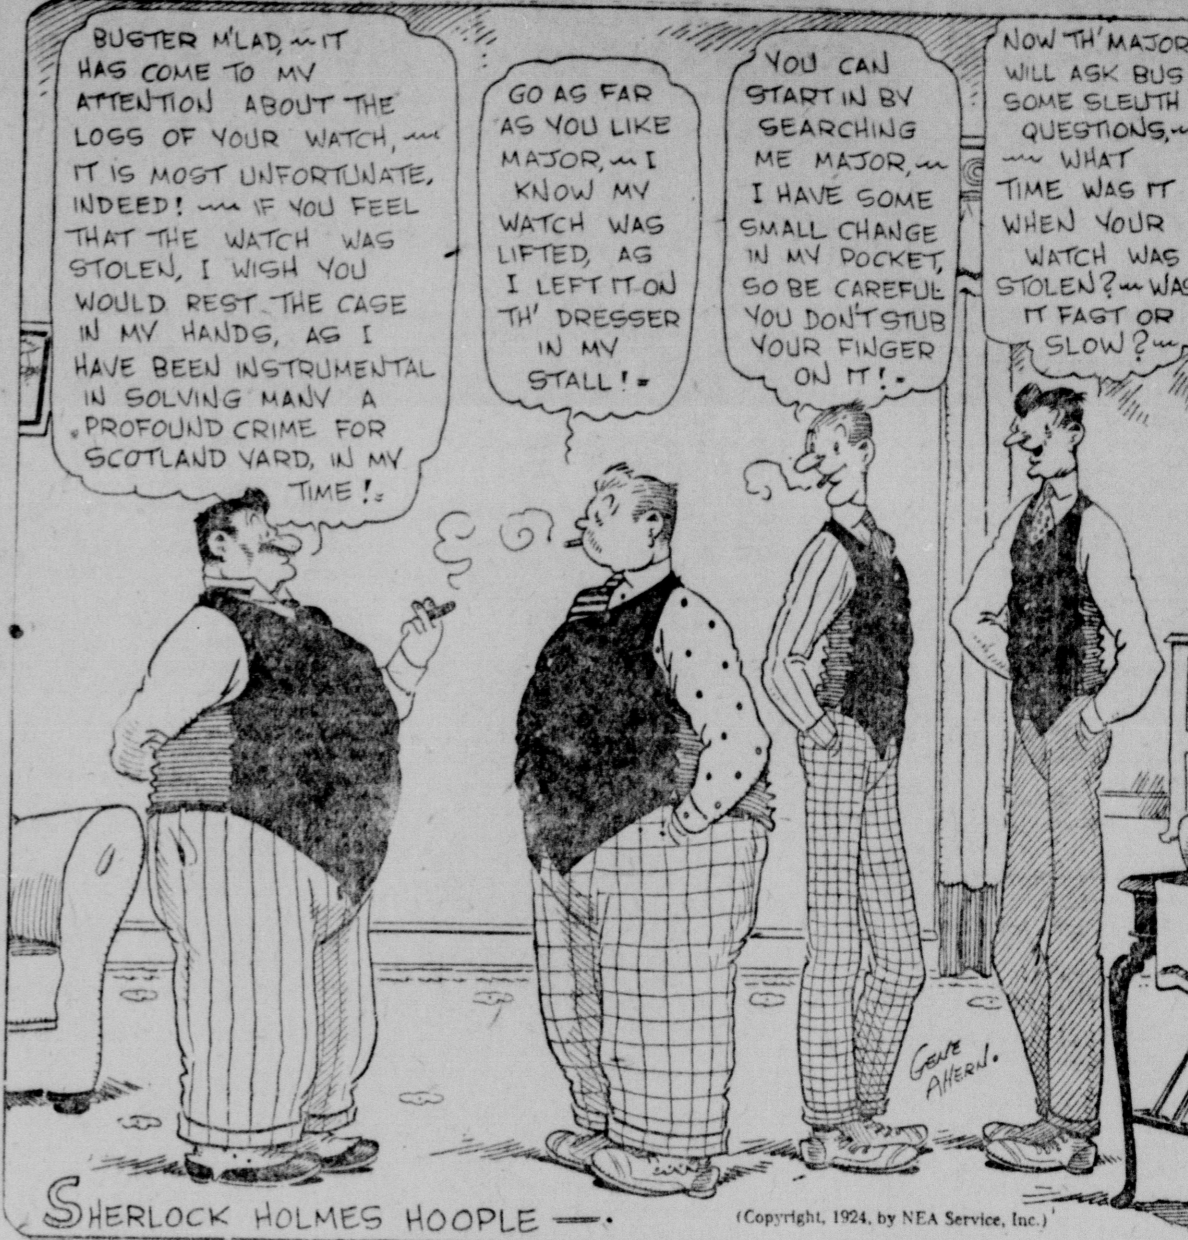

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine months, gained twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. Rowland's Pharmacy or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only sixty cents for 60 tablets.

Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets and beware of imitations.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERN

ported than for the corresponding quarter of 1923. These differences seem slight for a state the size of Illinois, says the state health commissioner, but they indicate a tendency that may become dangerous because of the fact that a single case may become the starting point of a serious epidemic.

The actual cost of medical and nursing care incident to treating a case of typhoid is not less than $100. Figured on this basis alone the excess of 112 cases during the first half of this year over the first half of 1923 cost the people of Illinois the tidy sum of $11,200. That amount would pay for the annual salaries of three or four full time medical field officers whose services would go a long way toward banishing from the state such preventable diseases as typhoid fever.

Late in June a 10 year old boy died of diphtheria in Hillsdale and about the same time a 11 year old girl died of the same disease in Libertyville. Newspaper dispatches declare that the Libertyville girl had no medical care whatever during the first five days of illness while the Hillsdale boy was under the care of a cultist and that neither of the unfortunate children received diphtheria antitoxin. Sad cases of this kind will continue to recur, said Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director, until the people realize definitely that antitoxin, which is distributed free by the state, is the only reliable means of treating diphtheria and that regular M. D. physicians are the only professional persons adequately equipped to treat all kinds of disease.

Now is a good time to immunize children against diphtheria by administering three injections of toxin-antitoxin, which is distributed free by the state department of health. The diphtheria prevalence in the state is low just now but it is sure to increase very sharply in September and remain much higher than at present throughout the fall months, according to the state health authorities.

HOME MAKERS OF RADIO PLAY BIGGEST PART

Doing Much to Cause Growth of Fad in United States

One phase of radio as to which there has been much speculation is what proportion of the more than 2,000,000 radio sets in use in the United States today are home-made, and what proportion are factory-made.

It has gradually become the accepted opinion that about 80 percent of the receipts from sales of radio apparatus by dealers have been from radio parts, and 20 percent from complete sets.

In view of the fact that a manufacturer's cost, on the average, about $100, it may readily be seen that the number of complete sets sold by dealers is relatively not very great. By comparison it shows that a tremendous amount of parts have been sold. One dealer told the writer that in one of his stores alone (in New York) he sells several hundred amplifying transformers of a well-known brand each week.

A dealer who, out of curiosity, had been looking up the matter of complete sets as compared with parts, found in addition to the fact that the great majority of sets used today are home-made, that a very large proportion of the complete sets are made, not in manufacturing plants, but by what might be called "attic manufacturers."

There are, throughout the country, several thousand so-called radio engineers who are making sets. One man connected with one of the large automotive houses has made 17 sets of the well known reflex type. He was so successful in making his own first set, and so enthusiastic about the results he got with it, that he actually wished on himself the job of making sets for his friends. If his friends had to pay for this executive's labor it would have been nearly as expensive as to buy a set in the first place, but even when they would not have had the service which he supplied with each set he made. He is so interested in his friend's sets, as well as his own, that he looks after any little difficulties which arise, and keeps them in shape. As a matter of fact, this man installed and set up the sets for nothing except the fun of the game. Such sets are usually made with unusual care because it is generally a superior grade of man who does this for his friends. Often he is a high-priced executive whose time would be worth many dollars an hour, if it were available at all.

A man connected with the advertising staff of a nationally known magazine made a reflex set for himself and it worked. He made another for his father, and it worked. Now he is making a couple more for people who have heard these. A man in Astoria, L. I. is making his seventh set. There are actually thousands of such cases.

Then there is another type of "attic manufacturer." For instance, in Union Hill, N. J., a man who ran a garage found he could earn more money making up radio sets and selling them than he could with his garage. So he hired a manager to run the garage business and proceeded to make four or five sets a week for his friends, and naturally had no trouble in selling them at a fair profit.

Radio is the most democratic thing

In American life today. Thousands of fans have learned by experience that it is not necessary to buy expensive sets to enjoy radio, but with the clear diagrams and practical suggestions provided by leading radio manufacturers they can make their own sets, get good results, and have a lot of fun besides. And if any individual wishing a set does not feel confident that he can build one even under these circumstances, he need not have to look long among his friends to find an "attic manufacturer" who would either for the pure joy of the thing, or for a small fee, would build a set for him.

It is no small part which "attic manufacturers" are playing in the development of the radio industry.

head sagaciously and whispers: "He must know what he's talking about."

All this philosophizing, my dear Sally, rather clutters up a love letter, doesn't it? But it is just to suggest to you that you are wrong when you say that it is better to trust a man than a woman. Think it over, dear. I know your good sense will steer you aright.

As I was writing you, I sat so near to that half dozen men that I could not help listening when I heard your name mentioned. Said one man to another:

"That secretary of Jack Prescott's is certainly a hummer. What's her name?"

"She's a Mrs. Atherton," answered the other.

"Widow?" asked some one else.

"Yes, very recently."

"Over or under the grass?"

"I think she's laid him away carefully with a rose upon his breast."

"But she's not in mourning."

"I rather think," said the first man, "that she does not mourn, and as she does not, you know she is just the kind of a woman who would scorn to pretend to do so."

"I do not believe," remarked a man who before had not spoken a word, "that a woman of the style of this Mrs. Atherton could really wear crepe enough to give the impression of grief. She looks to me like a very self-centered woman who is in dependence personified."

"What's Jack doing with her? Has that lovely wife of his and he had any trouble?"

"Wife out of town, I believe," remarked another man with a leer.

Sally, dear, I wanted to knock his head off.

NOTED CROSS-COUNTRY TOURS

These maps show the cross-country roads that are most frequented by tourists. Now is the time when most touring is east and west. In the fall and winter months, it is north and south.

The roads shown on the upper map are, as numbered, 1. Yellowstone Trail; 2. Lincoln Highway; 3. National Old Trails; 4. Lee Highway; 5. Dixie Highway; 6. Mississippi River Scenic Highway; 7. Jefferson Highway; 8. Pacific Highway.

The lower map shows the famous National Park-to-Park Highway, encircling the national parks and monuments of the west. It covers a tour of about 6000 miles. It is fed by every transcontinental highway and is considered one of the most wonderful scenic courses in the country.

ADVERTISING OF ASSEMBLY BEING CONDUCTED NOW

Crew Busy Advertising for Annual Chautauqua in This City

The advertising crew for the Rock River Assembly which opens July 26 is now busy engaged in covering the surrounding territory about Dixon within a radius of sixty to seventy miles. Already Whiteside county has been covered and today they are working south and east of Dixon in Lee and Bureau counties.

That means that all things are ready for the thirty seventh annual session. The Assembly will be a success this year is assured in every respect if the choice of talent and arrangement of the program mean anything in attaining it in any degree. The completed plans await only the passage of time to usher in that two weeks' session of instruction and entertainment which would be a rare privilege for anyone to enjoy. Many items of interest from the educational and from the standpoint of good high class entertainment appear on the program.

The public always enjoys being baffled by the illusive trickery of expert magicians. Laurant and Company, Magicians, appear on the Assembly program and give promise of delighting their audience from the word "Go" by their magic and adeptness in the occult art. A long successful experience on the chautauqua platform guarantees this.

Fine Music Assured

Music never fails to strike a responsive chord when rendered with perfection and beauty. This side of the program has not been neglected and it is possible for every different taste in the musical line to find satisfaction in some one of group of artists that have been secured. Music will be rendered on the platform by artists who know and understand their profession.

The John Howard concert party will interpret the music of the masters in a way that is pleasing and delightful. The Lyric Glee Club comes prepared to entertain with music that always is in demand because of the popularity of male glee clubs. Then too, the melodies of the Sunny South which represent a truly American collection of songs are to be brought to the Chautauqua by the William Jubilee Singers.

A diversion is offered by John B. Ratto, impersonator, who keeps his audiences entertained every minute of the time. Impersonating national types and personalities he has succeeded in making a name for himself on the Chautauqua platform. His impersonations of prominent figures in the recent World War will not fail to bring forth the most unqualified approval.

A change in the arrangements for the Sunday programs has been announced by the board. There will be the usual Sunday program excepting the fact that no admission will be charged. Instead a free will offering will be taken up. This will enable any and all people to attend on Sundays and enjoy the offerings of the Assembly.

CONFESSOR TO FAMILY MURDER MAY BE INSANE

Freeport Police are Puzzled by Suspect They are Holding

Freeport.—Admitting he attacked the Eder family "with a long club," John Bauer, believed to be John Kammerer, slayer of the Otto Eder family at Elmhurst on or about June 27, continued today to puzzle the authorities, who are at a loss to decide whether he really is the slayer of the Eders or simply a half-wit who agrees with every suggestion made to him.

Although arrested as Bauer, the prisoner agreed he was Kammerer when the sheriff called him by that name. By a similar ruse the sheriff gained from Bauer an admission that he did attack the Eders, though he apparently did not realize whether he had killed them or not.

Talked of Eders.

He talked freely about the Eder family and his relations with the members of it. On the day he "struck them with a long club," Bauer said he had first ordered the Eders out of the house, though he had no authority to do so. This, too, may be only imagination on the part of the prisoner.

Bauer displays the cunning of an insane person, and has to be constantly watched. Saturday evening while Sheriff Byers was talking to him, with the cell door ajar, Bauer tried to escape. The sheriff, however, quickly snapped the lock on the cell door.

Photographs of the man have been sent to Du Page county authorities, and they will be shown to neighbors of the Eder family, in the hope that they may be able to say whether he is Kammerer or not. Bauer is being detained as an insane suspect.

FLYING HEROES TO LEAVE FOR LONDON TOMORROW MORN.

Stayed in Paris Today to Get Sleep They So Badly Need

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, July 15.—Tired and weary from their 18,000 mile battle against the air, the United States army round the world fliers today took a breathing spell in Paris and planned to hop off for London early in the morning.

The pilots of the three planes and their assistants landed safely at Le Bourget airbase yesterday afternoon, 19 days behind their original schedule but with a gain of twelve days to their credit since they left Tokyo.

They made the hop from Vienna to Paris without difficulty. So great were the crowds to welcome the American airmen that the small force of guards at the flying field was overwhelmed and soon the great space was black with people.

The visiting globe-encirclers were greeted by M. Laurent Eynac, under-secretary of the French air ministry, together with other notables.

Displace Olympic Heroes.

Since leaving Los Angeles on their historic journey, the aviators have been in the air 260 hours.

The American fliers for the moment have displaced the Olympic heroes in the public eye. The newspapers are full of their exploits.

The attractions of Paris appeared to Lieutenant Smith and colleagues less advantageous than sleep this morning.

Later the six aviators lunched with General John J. Pershing.

Jump to London Next.

The Yankee globe girdlers intend to rest until Wednesday morning, and then hop to Croydon, spend a day in London, and then proceed to Hull, where they will replace their landing wheels with pontoons for the transatlantic hop via Iceland, Greenland, and Labrador.

United States officialdom was well represented at Le Bourget, with Maj. Donald McDonald from the embassy here, Maj. Carlton Wash, air attaché of the embassy; Col. Kenyon Joyce from the London embassy; Col. Henry Coates, aviation attaché of the Vienna embassy, and Col. Markey, who is here with Gen. Pershing, and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, on an inspection of the battlefield cemeteries.

Gen. Niessel, hero of Chemin des Dames during the war, representing the French military aviation; Gen. Deumesnil, representing the fortified region of Paris, and Laurent Eynac, minister of aviation, representing the government, officially welcomed the heroes.

Sound Detector Finds Planes.

Before the aviators' arrival at Le Bourget airbase the officials trundled out an ancient Blériot monoplane of 1923 vintage, which the martyr aviator, M. Pegoud, flew in its first flight, for the Yank pilots to inspect.

Wireless messages from Strasbourg stated that the Americans left there at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon and they were expected at Le Bourget before 4 o'clock. A tremendous crowd was on hand. Passengers from London, Brussels, Amsterdam, Geneva, and Prague, landing from commercial machines, waited for the heroes' arrival.

At 5:15 the huge sound detector which warned Le Bourget air base during the war, when German raiding machines were enroute to bomb Paris, picked up the crackling of the American motors and a formation of the French machines immediately took to the air, flying eastward to meet the Yankees.

Make Perfect Landing.

Half an hour later they appeared in sight again with the trio of American machines forming the apex of the spear head formation, and four of the French planes accompanied them. Lieuts. Smith, Wade, and Nelson made perfect landings in front of the crowd, while the French landed in front of their own hangars so as not to intrude on the reception for the world fliers.

Lieut. Smith let out the French tricolor from the fuselage just before the landing, eliciting a big cheer for his graceful compliment. The crowd surged forward around the machine when it pulled up, and Lieut. Smith betrayed more tender solicitation for it than a mother would for a new born babe.

"Don't let anybody touch anything," he warned his mechanician, and then pleaded with the airbase officials to keep the crowd back from the plane.

Run Into Storm.

"We left Vienna at 5:25 this morning, landing in Strasbourg, where we refilled our tanks just before noon," Lieut. Smith said. "The morning flight was uneventful, but after leaving Strasbourg at 1:15 we ran into a storm, gale, rain, and low clouds, which delayed us through our trying to keep together. We lunched in the planes, eating sandwiches and drinking beer."

"Where can I get a pair of pants. I lost all my others except these overalls," said Lieut. Smith, pointing to the greasy stained khaki trousers he was wearing.

Pershing to Meet Fliers.

Replying to a speech of welcome from Laurent Eynac, Lieut. Smith said: "We have been looking forward to Paris ever since we started, and hate to leave so soon, but we must keep going and try to catch up with our schedule."

LONDON PLANS WELCOME

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, July 15.—With the arrival in Paris and the approaching visit to England of the American army round the world fliers, the achievements of the aviators are receiving more attention in the newspapers than at any time since the airmen left America.

Arrangements are being made here for a big gathering of prominent air enthusiasts at Croydon, Wednesday to welcome the fliers to England.

The Times editorially reviewing the flight and its future prospects, remarks on the probability of the fliers having to face extremely serious weather conditions in Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

New Bowling Alley is Provided at Pastime

Peters and Hefley of the Pastime bowling alleys are making extensive repairs and getting in readiness for a busy bowling season. A feature of the improvements is the addition of a new alley, which is now being installed, giving four alleys. The three alleys that have been in use are being resurfaced and in the early fall will be ready for the bowling fans.

Death by boiling was a favorite method of execution in the time of Henry VIII.

ALEXANDER, ACE OF CUBS' STAFF IS OUT FOR THE YEAR

Broken Wrist Will Keep Star From Playing During Season

By Associated Press Leased Wire
By doing one thing at a time and it well while the Yankees tried to kill two birds with one stone and failed, the Washington Senators have placed themselves in a position to overtake the American League leaders today. As a result of its victory over Cleveland and New York's division of a double header with St. Louis, Washington is now one game behind the world series champions.

Finding Danforth rather soft, the Yankees breezed through the opener to a 7-3 triumph but in the sunset tilt they bowed for the third consecutive time before the puzzling shoots of Wingard, Sleser's sensational rookie. In spite of Ruth's 25th and 26th homers, Huggins' aggregation dropped the final.

Washington made it three straight over Cleveland with a 12-0 shutout. Judge made a triple, double and a single and walked once in five attempts, driving in 5 runs.

Alex out for Season
The downtrodden Athletics sprang a surprise on Detroit by tying the score in the ninth and winning out in the 10th, 5-4.

Boston found the four hits they made off Fisher inadequate to manufacture enough runs to beat Chicago and the White Sox were victors 6-2.

The Chicago Cubs, the Giants' only serious challengers for the National League pennant, sustained two crushing blows in their third straight defeat at the hands of New York by a 7-0 score and the news that Grover Cleveland Alexander, ace of the Bruin's pitching staff, probably will be out of the game for the rest of the season with a fractured wrist. As Chicago could do nothing with Barnes' delivery, the Giants found it a simple matter to apply the white wash brush.

Dickerman, recently traded to St. Louis by Brooklyn, obtained delicious revenge by shutting out his former teammates, 12-0.

The superiority of Carlson over Kremer and Stone was measured by Philadelphia's 8-3 win over Pittsburgh.

Tilden and Kinseys to Play in State Tourney

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, July 15—William T. Tilden, 2nd, of Philadelphia, national tennis champion and Howard and Robert Kinsey of San Francisco, doubles champions, arrived today to compete in the Illinois state championships, which got under way yesterday afternoon.

Tilden's first opponent is Paul Hartney of Chicago.
Pat O. Hara Wood, Australian cup team member yesterday eliminated Walter Goodwillie, University of Illinois captain and L. H. Waldner of Winnetka.

For Shawnee Champion.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Shawnee on the Delaware, Pa., July 15—Joe Kirkwood, Rockwood Hall professional, held an advantage of one stroke over Johnny Golden, of North Jersey, and Leo Diegel, Detroit his nearest competitors, at the start today of the final 36 holes in the 72 hole Shawnee open championship golf match. Kirkwood negotiated the first 36 holes in a 143 while Golden and Diegel took a 43.

Chilean Boxer Puts K. O. on Rocky Kansas

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, July 15—By virtue of a knockout in the eleventh round of a scheduled 15 round bout at the Queensboro A. C., Luis Vincentini of Chile, today has the call in light-weight circles over Rocky Kansas, of Buffalo. Vincentini's decisive victory was unexpected.

The Chilean made a remarkable comeback after going down under the force of one of Kansas' rights in the tenth round.
After taking a count of nine on a preliminary knockdown Kansas struggled to his feet only to wilt to the floor for keeps.

GOLF TOURNEY FOR PLAYERS OF OVER 50 YEARS

Dozen Clubs of Northern Illinois to be Represented in it

The third annual tournament of the Semi-Century Golf Association of Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin will be held at the Bel-Mar Country Club at Freeport on Thursday and Friday of this week.

The association will hold its annual meeting for election of officers and the transaction of business Thursday evening, following the annual dinner. The first 18 holes will be played Thursday afternoon, and the remaining 18 Friday.

Three Years Old
The Semi-Century association has been in existence for three years. Only golfers who have reached or passed the semi-century mark are who was fifty or more of age on the first day of the year in which the tournament is held, and who had been a regular member for a continuous period of two or more years of the golf clubs represented in the association, the clubs being as follows: Madison, Wis., St. Louis, Ill., Rockford, Ill., Kishwaukee of DeKalb and Sycamore, Ill., Beloit, Wis., Glen Crest of Woodstock, Ill., Bel-Mar of Belvidere, Marengo, Garden Prairie, and Freeport, Dixon, Sterling Polo and Mt. Carroll.

Handicap According to Age
Players are given a handicap according to their age. For every five years one stroke is given. The players are divided into four classes. Class One includes all over 50 and under 55. Class Two, 45 and under 50. Class Three, 40 and under 45. Class Four, 35 and under 40. Low medal score wins the association honors and cup or prize. The winner of each class is also awarded a prize.

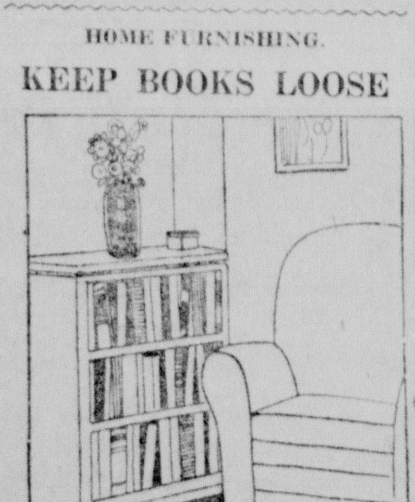

Class One Scratch
Class One players have no handicap but are "scratch" men. Class Two players are entitled to handicap of one stroke on each nine holes. Class Three two strokes on each nine holes. Class Four three strokes on each nine holes. The handicaps are deducted from the total medal scores of players. In case of a tie extra holes are to be played until the tie is broken. Play will be under the rules of the Western Golf association and the ground rules of the local club.

Each entrant is to be given a number. Partners are selected for the first eighteen holes by pairing even and odd numbers in the final eighteen holes by pairing the odd numbers together and even numbers together to bring about a change of partners.

MORMONS QUIT JAPAN
TOKYO.—The field has not been found fertile for missionary work of the Mormon Church in Japan, and the Mormon missionaries will be withdrawn, it has been announced. The Mormons have maintained mission headquarters in Tokyo for 20 years.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

The White Field Hat

Your hat is the highest expression of the Fine Art of Dress, because nothing can go above it. A man's taste is connoted by the choice of his hat and a man's temperament by the angle of it. Thumb and forefinger can put expressive personality into a hat, if there is the slightest personality below. It has been well said that of all the articles a man wears his hat alone fully, freely and flexibly interprets his individuality. Your suit is buttoned on; your collar is fastened on; your scarf is tied on; your hosiery is drawn on; your glove is squeezed on; your shoe is laced on, but your hat is put on.

By its poise and pitch, tilt and droop a hat can be made to take on as many varying moods as the face underneath. A hat may look aristocratic or vulgar; serious or humorous; gloomy or cheerful; dignified or flippant; radical or conservative; rakish or righteous; fresh or wilted; alive or dead. The importance of the hat in the theme of dress cannot be overestimated, and the best proof of this is how deliberately and selectively a woman buys hers. Well she knows that the hat is one of those "big, little things" that make style.

When sport was in its hobble-de-hoy years, virtually the only sort of headwear worn afield was the cap. Then followed various types of soft straws for Summer, including the Panama and the Leghorn. Came at last the featherweight felt which is lighter than the straw and is worn with brim dipped down in front, upon the side or forehead. A recent development of this hat is the white felt designed to be worn with white knickers—linen, gabardine, Shetland, flannel—and with white buckskin shoes, thus making both ends meet. The white felt may also accompany white flannel or white worsted trousers.

Just how this hat looks and should be worn is illustrated here. The crown is creased lengthwise through the centre, dented at the sides and worn with brim down all around. The ribbon is narrow and knotted. Granted that the white felt is no cooler than any other hat, it looks cooler, and the mind is the servant of the eye. To be sure, such a featherweight felt is procurable in other colors besides white, tan, gray, Lovat and scores of in-between tints. Sometimes, the white felt has the underbrim faced with green cotton to lessen sun-blink. Then, again, it may have air holes for ventilation.

Scotac, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work standing on my feet, I would just drag around all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother again. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. I thank you a thousand times for the good your medicine has done me."

TO CATCH A THIEF

IT occurs to me that, for reasons which should be obvious enough, it will be as well if, in these memoirs of mine, I refrain from attempting to set forth my adventures in their chronological order. All policemen are not fools; if I should trace, with too great exactitude, my various movements, dormant suspicions would become wakeful. Moreover, it is not my intention to publish all my adventures. I prefer rather to confine myself to those incidents which have in them something of the unusual. In presenting the history of an artist, one does not deem it essential to relate where he purchased his brushes. And I am an artist.

Behold me, then, seated at a table on the terrace of the Cafe de Paris, sipping my coffee. It was the atrocious deception, rather, which the French call coffee. It is, this coffee, the only blemish upon an otherwise charming picture. And I will confess, with what hesitation may seem suitable to the prejudices of the day, that I had mitigated its bitterness with some fin champagne. More over, I had dined at Ciro's, and nothing could efface the memory of that marvelous repast.

The air was balmy. The tables were crowded. It seemed as if all the world had run away from his wife and brought his sweetheart here. For there was an air of excitement, of nervous gaiety, that unfortunately is not too closely associated with respectable domesticity. I could hear every tongue, save German, spoken; and I strongly suspected that the guttural French as savoyed by certain ostensible Swiss had been learned in Berlin. For though the German is not given, even at this time in the world's history, to denying his nationality, Monte Carlo is worth a transient treason.

For a moment I felt lonely. I wished that I, too, were accompanied by a charming lady in whose ears I could whisper soft flatteries, and into whose hands, later on, I could press the insiduous plaques wherewith one stakes at roulette or chemin de fer. But I put the thought from me. The artist in crime must be like Kipling's cat; he walks alone.

And in moments such as these, when I realize that certain things are denied me, I seek for change, for relaxation. And before me, out-lined in electric lights, and shone cynically upon by the scornful stars above, loomed the great bulk of the Casino. Excitement was not far to seek.

I raised my finger; my waiter came to my side and presented the small bill.

"Monsieur plays?" he smiled. "One feels gratitude to the authors of these glorious surroundings," I told him. "One does not play; one enters the Casino and pays for the privilege of being here."

The waiter's smile was swiftly sympathetic. "Monsieur is unfortunate!"

I shrugged. "Does anyone ever win here?" I asked.

"Ah, yes, monsieur. The good luck smiles on many," he assured me.

"I'll believe it when I see it," I retorted.

THE WIFE WAS FRANTIC IN HER PLEADING

think he would have spat upon the ground. "I gave two sons to France, monsieur," he said. "The Baronne gave none. Her sons were occupied in the production of munitions. France has her profiteers, monsieur. Those jewels which she wears were bought with money made in the war. Ah, well, she has one jewel less than she had last week."

"She lost a jewel?" I asked.

He spread his palms and pursed his lips. "Who knows? Monsieur does not read French, perhaps. Our newspapers printed much about the Baronne's pearl necklace. She wore it one night in the Casino. She went back to her hotel without it. The papers say that detectives from Paris are investigating the matter. The clasp may have become unfastened; it may have dropped to the floor. But Monsieur is aware that strange people come to Monte Carlo. Bonne chance, monsieur!"

I tipped him, and with my coat over my arm, I strolled across the square to the Casino. And as I walked, I frowned. As the waiter had said, strange people came to Monte Carlo. I would like to meet that strange one who had taken the Baronne's necklace. It took genius to abstract a necklace from a woman's throat in the halls of the Casino. And I was grateful to the garrulous little waiter. I had come to the Riviera for rest, with no intention of practicing my profession. Now, forewarned, I would not, no matter what the temptation, permit my holiday to be infringed upon by business. The Parisian detectives have brains.

Still, as I checked my hat and coat, and sauntered through the outer rooms into the Cercle Prive, the more exclusive salons, and he held the precious stones that gleamed from the throats and arms and hair of the women here, I could understand that not even the Casino's force of detectives, or the importations from Paris, could deter attempts at theft. Also I speculated on the difficulties that might be involved in a raid upon the cash of the Casino itself. But that was a job for an organization. And I, as I have said before, walk alone.

I went to a booth and exchanged half a dozen mille notes for chips. Then I slipped into a vacant seat at one of the tables, glanced at a card kept by the man next to me, saw that red had been turning up with great frequency, decided that it was black's turn, and began backing up my judgment. I had made three successful coups, when an exclamation from my left-hand neighbor made me turn and look at her.

She was well worth the glance I gave her. I have seen few lovelier women than this young American—she was patently that—who sat beside me. Black hair and blue eyes lent to her an exotic hue of her skin. I judged that in her ancestry might be found some grandee of old Spain. She was dressed prettily, but not nearly as expensively as most of the other women present. And she wore no jewelry whatsoever, save a narrow gold wedding-ring. Nevertheless she was the most striking-looking woman in the room.

But it was not her beauty alone that made me stare at her. It was the expression of despair upon her face. Her exclamation had been one of almost hysterical dismay. Beyond her sat a youth of twenty-five, good-looking, with that fresh complexion so common to the English. His color was more florid just now than usual, I imagined. For he was crimson with embarrassment. And then the cry. As I looked, he placed a hand upon her wrist. It was this action that made me assume they were husband and wife.

"Don't, Margaret," he said to her. "We'll get it back in a moment." As he spoke, he placed plaques aggregating six thousand francs, on the red.

"Jack, you mustn't take it back!" She was frantic in her pleading. Behind her stood a tall, black-bearded man, broad-shouldered and powerful. His huge nose, mottled skin and puffed eyes told of a man who knew no restraint upon his desires. He leaned over now.

"But what does it matter, Mrs. Beresford?" His accent told me that he was Russian.

"It matters tremendously," she replied angrily. And then the croupier dropped his cry as the little ball settled into Number Eleven.

"Once, impair, noir et manque." Eleven, odd, black, and the first eighteen. His cry was music to my ears, for I had staked two thousand on the black. But as I reached for my winnings, I wished that red had come. For I was near neighbor to one of those all-too-common tragedies of Monte Carlo, the proofs of which are to be found in the deflations of forgeries and embezzlements that fill the Continental papers, and in the hushed-up suicides of the cliffs.

"How can it matter?" demanded the Russian. "I am here, and I have money."

She flashed a look of scorn at him. I could read the little story as easily as if it were set before my eyes in print. I have seen too many elderly gentlemen befriending young wives.

She rose from her seat. "Come, Jack," she said.

Her husband looked at her in desperate appeal. "That's all we have, Margaret," he told her. "Unless the Prince lends money, we have nothing."

Horror leaped into her eyes. She looked accusingly at the prince. "You encouraged Jack."

LEE CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

ILLINOIS DAIRY COW WASN'T GOLD BRICKING ON THE JOB IN 1923.

One hundred and nine million glasses of malted milk were drunk by Illinois people in 1923, according to a survey of leading soda fountains and dispensaries in Chicago and other large cities in Illinois made by the Illinois Agricultural Association department of dairy marketing, A. D. Lynch, director. On an average, every person in Lee County drank 17 malted milks during the year.

The Illinois dairy cow would sit down and laugh with glee if she could read a dairy statistical report recently compiled for Illinois by Mr. Lynch. And if she could talk this same cow would say to her owner, "Every day in every way I am making you richer and richer."

Certainly there would be little in the L. A. A. report to make her feel downhearted or guilty of gold bricking on the job. The fact that the farm value of dairy products in Illinois is approximately $50,000,000 annually ought to maintain a prosperous atmosphere around Illinois dairy farms.

But the fact that in 1923 enough of her milk was put through the malting process to produce 3,297,000 pounds of malted milk in Illinois, is what would tickle the cow and her owner, for neither of them knew that Illinois has for the last two years stood second in the manufacture of malted milk among the states. The 1923 production of this product exceeded the 1922 figure by 13.6 per cent or 336,000.

Another fact revealed by the Illinois Agricultural Association report which should tickle the vanity of the dairy cow, the dairyman and the dairy manufacturer, is that 12,233,000 gallons of ice cream were manufactured in Illinois last year, which is 6.8 per cent more than were manufactured in 1923.

The per capita consumption of ice cream for last year increased 10.3 per cent over 1922, with an average of 2.66 pounds consumed by every man, woman and child in Illinois. However, although the quantity increased during 1923, the average price was slightly lower.

A. F. B. F. FAVORS A FARMER OWNED GRAIN SALES PLAN

Approval with reservations as to details is the attitude of the special committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation relative to the proposed idea of the creation of a national produced-owned and controlled grain sales agency as proposed by four Chicago grain companies. The committee has been in session since July 7 reviewing the idea as presented to the American Farm Bureau Federation executive committee and studying the details for the development of the merger and contemplated re-sale to the farmers.

The men in the conference have been in close contact with representatives of the cooperative elevators, the Grange, the American Wheat Growers and other producing interests, who also have this plan under consideration. It is hoped that through conference with these various organizations a unified agricultural policy may be developed.

The special committee considering the proposed grain sales plan was appointed by O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation after the executive committee meeting held in Chicago June 16, 17, 18 and 19. He was appointed chairman of the special committee with the power to select as many other committeemen as he deemed necessary. Sam H. Thompson, President of the Illinois Agricultural Association; J. P. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau; Frank Evans, Attorney for the Utah Farm Bureau and Murray D. Lincoln, secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau were asked by President Bradfute to serve on the special committee.

At the end of the fourth day's session the American Farm Bureau Federation committee issued the following formal statement.

"WHEREAS, This Committee has been in session several days making a further study of the proposal of certain grain merchandising interests looking to the taking over of these interests in the creation of a national cooperative grain sales agency;

"NOW BE IT RESOLVED, That we favor the principle and undertaking involved in the said proposal, to the end that a farmer owned and operated cooperative marketing organization be set up, provided that all legal and business details can be satisfactorily worked out and agreed upon, it being understood that we continue our deliberations, and our conferences with various producing interests of the country."

Following the approval of the general plan for the farmers to take over the grain marketing system as proposed recently by four big grain companies of Chicago, the A. F. B. F. committee took up a detailed study of the proposition. Among the more important points now under consideration are the organization of the corporation under the Illinois Cooperative Marketing law, the means of arriving at a proper appraisal of the property methods of payment and the control of the corporation.

The special committee will continue in session the remainder of this week and probably the greater part of next week. Conference will be held with as many producing interests as possible in an attempt to analyze the proposition and determine the practicability of the plan for farmers owning and operating their own grain marketing facilities.

I. A. A. GETS MORE LARGE ORDERS FOR POOR CHICAGO KIDS

With the coming of July and warmer weather has come an increase in the number of applications for Chicago poor children who want to spend vacations in good farm bureau homes according to reports coming to Lee County Farm Advisor, Griffith.

This outing secretary of the Illinois Agricultural Association, who is working with the United Charities of Chicago in promoting the vacation project for the kiddies has placed 186 underprivileged Chicago children in country homes for at least two weeks of sunshine and fresh air. Last year 473 were given vacations sometime during the summer.

During the last week Rock Island county sent in a request for twenty children to be distributed in homes near Hillsdale and other orders for several children to be sent out in groups were received.

COUNT YOUR STOCK AND DON'T OVERLOAD IS QUASEY'S WARNING

It is important to have an accurate count of the stock loaded. Says L. J. Quasey, director of the transportation department of the Illinois Agricultural Association, in a safety-loading warning sent to L. S. Griffith, farm advisor of Lee County. The count should be made by two or three persons at the time of loading, according to Mr. Quasey's safety-loading suggestions. Then in the event of a shortage the facts can be properly established and the loss recovered. At the terminal market the stock is counted a number of times as it passes through the mill, so that unless a good loading count at the county shipping point can be shown it is difficult to recover a claim for shortage.

Overloading is a costly risk because loss or damage due to overloading is uncollectable. Quasey pointed out in the suggestion sent to Farm Advisor Griffith. A car should not be loaded beyond the minimum weight requirement for the length of car used and should be loaded less than the minimum if the car appears to be overloaded.
